America on Parade

Walt Disney World salutes the bicentennial with America's happiest celebration: "America on Parade!" Watch a 20-foot ice cream cone, a marching, musical riverboat and a new Disney family of "People of America" characters. They're all part of the larger-than-life procession commemorating 200 years of American history.

Red, white and blue "Fantasy in the Sky" fireworks follow the evening performance of "America on Parade" when the Magic Kingdom is open until midnight or later.

To complete our bicentennial salute, the "Hall of Presidents" attraction in Liberty Square is complimentary through September 6.

River Country

Jump into a day of old-fashioned water fun at River Country, located in Fort Wilderness.

Splash, ride and slide your way into an ol' swimmin' hole like the one where Huck Finn used to swim. Take a rib-ticklin' glide down a spiraling 260-foot slide. Sail through the air from a rope swing. Navigate a raft on a winding journey down the rapids. Jump from a rock diving platform. Or, just soak up some sun along the white-sand beach. Then, relax around a picnic table.

You can enjoy a whole day of water adventures for one River Country admission ticket. Visit Walt Disney World's new country — for more old-fashioned, good, clean, wet American fun than you've ever had before!

Tips On Your Visit

These suggestions will help you make the most of your visit to the Magic Kingdom, saving you time, energy and steps while you enjoy all there is to see and do. A two-day visit is recommended for maximum enjoyment of all six themed lands.

Wait periods sometimes occur at the most popular attractions; the best time to visit these attractions is in the evening, after 5 p.m. During the afternoon hours, you'll find the shortest wait times at the following attractions:

Main Street RailroadMain Street, U.S.A.Pirates of the CaribbeanAdventurelandRiverboatsLiberty SquareMickey Mouse RevueFantasylandCarousel of ProgressTomorrowlandIf You Had WingsTomorrowland

ATTRACTIONS: Let the descriptions listed on pages 3-11 help you decide which attractions you want to see. Locate and check these on the accompanying map, then follow the checked attractions around the Magic Kingdom. We suggest you begin in Tomorrowland on your first visit and in Adventureland on your second. your Magic Kingdom Ticket Books will enable you to see many varied attractions. And, for your convenience, individual attraction coupons also may be purchased at ticket booths noted on map.

DINING: Hungry? There are a variety of restaurants and snack centers within seconds of your Magic Kingdom location. To save time, we suggest you stop for lunch either before noon or after 2 p.m. Then sample one of our other restaurants for a relaxing dinner before you leave this evening. All dining facilities, indicated in red on the accompanying map, are described under their respective lands on pages 3-11.

SHOPPING: You'll find everything from Disney souvenirs to antiques. We suggest you shop in early or mid-afternoon, then check your purchases in the Main Street railroad locker station and avoid the hectic pace of "late exit shopping." Shops, noted in orange on the accompanying map, are described under their respective lands on pages 3-11.

RELAXING: Drifting on an afternoon cruise to tropical Treasure Island (p.12), unwinding with cocktails at a Walt Disney World resort hotel (p.20-24), "discovering" The Lake Buena Vista Shopping Village (p.26), or diving in the water at "River Country (p.1) are great ways to relax. Why not make relaxation an important part of your Walt Disney World day? Transportation information (p.28).

GAF Photo Tips

I. BEFORE YOU START SHOOTING CHECK YOUR EQUIPMENT

CAMERA:

Is it clean? Check for dirt and old film particles inside ... finger prints, water marks on lens outside.

Functioning properly? Check film advance, shutter, other mechanical features.

Batteries fresh? Keep an extra set handy. Clean contact points with rough cloth or eraser.

THE GAF SERVICE COUNTER, located in the CAMERA CENTER on Main Street, U.S.A., will be happy to assist you with your film and camera problems.

FILM:

Check the size: Do you want color or black & white? Prints or slides? Indoor film (tungsten) or outdoor?

Is film fresh? Film characteristics change with age and heat. Use before expiration date. Important: Never store film in a hot area such as a car trunk, glove compartment, or in direct sunlight.

Film in camera? Some people actually forget to load up. When you do load your camera, stay away from intense sunlight if possible.

Film Sale Locations: GAF Camera Center, House of Treasure, Tropic Toppers, Frontier Trading Post, Heritage House, Castle Camera Shop, Mickey's Mart.

II. WHILE YOU SHOOT...KEEP THESE THINGS IN MIND:

Watch the focus.

'If your camera has a nonadjustable lens, stay at least four feet from your subject or it will appear fuzzy
... "out of focus."

Hold that camera steady! Camera movement ruins more pictures than any other single factor. The slower your shutter speed, the steadier the camera must be.

Don't block the lens. Lens caps, thumbs, camera cases, and other objects spoil a surprising number of pictures.

III. COMPOSE THOSE PICTURES!

Outstanding pictures don't just happen ... they are planned. Good composition is neither difficult nor time-consuming. It is fun, though, and it will improve your pictures dramatically.

Let the surroundings tell a story

The first picture could have been shot anywhere including the backyard at home. The second picture, taken in the same area, captures the old-fashioned atmosphere of Main Street, U.S.A.

Watch for unwanted objects Avoid distracting objects such as trash cans and keep background objects such as trees from "growing" out of people's heads. Also avoid "cutting the subject in two" with your picture frame.

Distance to subject

Action shots better than posed

The thrill of the "Mad Tea Party" and the couple's reaction is a far more exciting picture than a stiff, posed scene.

Some pictures don't need the family

Family pictures are important but a few go a long way. The same picture without the family clearly shows the submarine they just cruised on . . . better for storytelling back home.

Extra pointers for movie fans

Pan slowly. Panning . . . moving your camera across a large area to show its entirety . . . is the biggest problem in home movies. Avoid a continuous blur by panning slowly . . . or avoid panning unless it's necessary.

Zoom Sparingly. Using a zoom lens on every shot will give you a "seasick" audience. A few zooms per roll are plenty. NEVER ZOOM AND PAN AT THE SAME TIME!

Wind motor after each scene. This way you'll never "run out of gas" in the middle of exciting action. If your camera has an electric drive, use fresh batteries.

Vary scene length. It will give your show a change of pace.

Important! . . . Don't try to film the entire Jungle Cruise, for example, on a few seconds of film. Remember that a minimum of five full seconds is normally required for any movie scene to be enjoyed and understood.

An Important Word About Flashbulbs

Flash photography is not permitted in most indoor attractions in the Magic Kingdom. Because of the distance between the audience and the "show" in the Haunted Mansion, Hall of Presidents, Mickey Mouse Revue, Country Bear Jamboree, and other dimly lit attractions, any flash pictures taken will not reproduce.

Don't try to illuminate large subjects or any thing further than 12 feet away. Large or distant objects at night must be shot with time exposure. A flash picture of the Cinderella Castle would require more than 100,000 flashbulbs!

Do follow the instructions of your flash equipment to the letter. It will save you time, money, and countless bad pictures.

IV. WHEN YOU GET BACK HOME:

Develop your film immediately. Remember that film characteristics change with age. The sooner you process the pictures, the sooner you will enjoy them, and the better they will be.

Organize your "show." Both slides and movies should be arranged according to subject . . . Adventureland, Fantasyland, Polynesian Village Hotel, etc. For example, even if you visited Adventureland several different times during a week's vacation, keep the pictures together. Your "show" will be much more understandable.

Avoid repetition. Fifteen different shots of the Cinderella Castle are fine for a "castle picture collection," but pick out only the cream of the crop for your show. The same goes for family pictures. Include several to show that you were "really there," but save the majority for the family album.

THE WALT DISNEY WORLD RESORTS

are attractions in themselves — whether you're staying in one of them or merely passing through.
